

Dear Birthparent(s):

Thank you for taking the time to read our letter and consider us as adoptive parents. We can only imagine what a difficult decision it may be to choose adoption. We had always hoped to have children of our own, but unfortunately we have not been successful. We are looking forward to closing one chapter in our life, the emotional struggles of infertility, and opening a new chapter, the blessing of becoming parents. We would be truly honored to be chosen as the adoptive parents of your child.

We have been married for three wonderful years and look forward to starting a family. The information below should help in getting a better understanding of who we are as you make your decision.

About Scott:

I am the older of two children and have one younger sister. I grew up in a medium-sized community in Southeastern Minnesota where Nancy and I reside today. Growing up I participated in many activities, including sports such as hockey and baseball, and clubs such as Boy Scouts and 4-H. After high school I went on to college and received a Bachelor's Degree. I am currently finishing schooling to receive my Master's Degree in social work. I am currently employed as a program supervisor at human services agency. In my free time I like to read, play golf, go fishing and boating, and spend time with friends and family.

About Nancy

I am the youngest of five children. I have three sisters and one brother. I enjoy spending time with my three nieces and six nephews. I grew up in a close-knit and loving family. Both Scott and I enjoy spending time together with family and there is never a dull moment when we all get together! I am an elementary teacher and feel very comfortable around children and enjoy the excitement I witness within them everyday. I also enjoy reading, watching and participating in many sports, exercising, shopping, and boating.

Our Marriage and Life:

Nancy and I met while in college and dated for about five years before getting married. We now have been married for nearly four years and have enjoyed every bit of married life since. We look forward to accepting a child into our home and cannot wait to become parents. We hope to instill many of the values in our child which we experienced growing up. We also will continue to keep our faith as an important part of our lives with our child.

We would like to thank you for considering us and would be willing to meet with you and answer any further questions you may have. We wish you luck with your decision.

Best of Luck to you,
Nancy and Scott
